Code of Practice Pursuant to the Education Act 1986 (IV, S43)

1. In accordance with section 43 of the Education Act 1986 the Governing Body is responsible for ensuring that freedom of speech within the law is secured for members, students and employees of the establishment and for visiting speakers. The University is required to “issue and keep up to date” a code of practice setting out the procedures to be followed by members, students and employees of the establishment in connection with the organisation:

   i. of meetings which are to be held on premises of the establishment and which fall within any class of meeting specified in the code; and
   ii. of other activities which are to take place on those premises and which fall within any class of activity so specified; and
   iii. the conduct required of such persons in connection with any such meeting or activity;
   iv. and dealing with such other matters as the governing body consider appropriate.

2. Prevent Duty
   The University has a long and rich history as an academic institution that has regularly welcomed visiting speakers from around the world to its campuses. Such speakers have brought and continue to bring great diversity of experience, insight and opinion, enriching our events and activities and sparking discussion and debate among our students, staff and visitors alike.

   The Counter Terrorism and Security Act 2015 stipulates that the University must “have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism” (Section 26). The University must also “have particular regard to the duty to ensure freedom of speech” and “to the importance of academic freedom” (Section 31). Under Section 29, we must “have regard to any such guidance in carrying out that duty.”

   The University is complying with this duty in a proportionate response, which in practice means striking a balance between concerns around extremism and concerns around censorship.

3. The code of practice below is the current code of practice as required by the act and was approved by the Board of Governors on 16 March 2016.

Code of Practice

4. The University believes that a culture of free and open discussion is essential in its role as an academic institution. This culture can only be achieved if all concerned behave with necessary tolerance and avoid needlessly offensive or provocative action or language. The University expects all persons taking part in its activities to respect its values, be sensitive to the diversity of its community and to show respect to all sections of that community. The University will refuse to allow meetings to take place where it is likely to give rise to an environment in which people will experience, or could reasonably fear, harassment, intimidation, verbal abuse or violence, particularly because of their ethnicity, race, nationality, religion or belief, sexual orientation, gender, disability or age.
