Description

Radboud University Nijmegen is a large public university with a strong focus on research. Established in 1923 and situated in the Netherlands' oldest city, it has seven faculties and many research institutes, including the world's only Psycholinguistics institute. Students will have the opportunity to be taught by researchers leading in this field. A comprehensive orientation programme and buddy system help incoming students to make friends, settle in, and deal with the practicalities of life in the Netherlands. Teaching follows a similar style to the UK, although modules are shorter and more numerous. Most modules have one lecture and one seminar per week for most subjects, and are assessed through exams and coursework.

Surrounding Area

Historic Nijmegen is situated on a range of hills near the River Waal. The surrounding area features hills, woods, and offers a range of recreational opportunities. Despite the city's small size, it is home to 2 universities - the large student population ensuring a varied programme of social and cultural events. A particular highlight is 'Vierdaagse', a four day march through the city in and surrounding areas in mid-July.

Accommodation

Various options are available to exchange students both on campus and in private accommodation - all easily accessed by bike or public transport.
