

PROGRAMME
‘Sharing international experience on urban planning for promoting health and environmental sustainability’
13 June 2016, LSHTM, Keppel Street, London.

10.00 am	Registration
10.30 am	Welcome and Introduction: Karen Lock , LSHTM (workshop organiser)  Location: Manson Lecture Theatre
10.35 am	Session 1: Urban Planning and design for health: learning from national and international case studies:  Chair: Sir Andy Haines , Professor and former Director, LSHTM
10.40am	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• David Burney: Professor of the Graduate Center for Planning, Pratt Institute School of Architecture, New York; Former Commissioner of the New York City Department of Design and Construction in New York City (2004-2014), and Chair of the Centre for Active Design.  ‘Promoting health through the design of buildings, streets, and neighbourhoods in New York and internationally: interdisciplinary approaches involving health, planning, transportation, architecture, and construction.’</li> </ul>
11.10 am	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Clive E Sabel: Professor of Geography, University of Bristol, and member of HEALTHY-POLIS initiative  ‘Health impacts of city policies to reduce climate change in 2 Chinese and 5 European cities’: a comparison of differing health impacts and mitigation priorities through transport, building and energy policy scenarios’</li> </ul>
11.30 am	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Steve Cummins: Professor of Population Health, LSHTM Background articles (3 articles) - ‘Tackling the environmental determinants of obesity in the Healthy Towns programme in England: reflections on evidence and innovation’</li> </ul>
11.50 -12.20	Panel discussion: Sustainable solutions- How can urban design tackle health and environment challenges in more integrated ways?  Chair: Sir Andy Haines  Panel: David Burney, Steven Cummins, Clive Sabel, Sari Kovats (Director, NIHR HPRU in Environmental Change and Health)
12.20-13.20	LUNCH served in atrium café area – Lower Ground Floor

13.20 - 14.20	Session 2: Learning from UK case studies on health and environmental sustainability in urban areas Chair: Lesley Mountford, Director of Public Health, Stoke on Trent City Council <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Peter Massini, Greater London Authority: 'Green Infrastructure and urban greening in London'</li> <li>• Dan Masterson, Stoke on Trent City Council: 'Healthy Urban Planning in Stoke'</li> <li>• Giovanni Leonardi, Public Health England: 'Decision support for risk prioritization of environmental health hazards in a UK city'</li> </ul> Questions and Discussion (15 minutes)
14.30 - 15.15	Session 3: How can we promote more holistic planning approaches to tackle the health and environment challenges in urban areas? Chair: Karen Lock, LSHTM <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Laurence Carmichael, Director of the WHO Collaborating Centre for Healthy Urban Environments, University of the West of England, Bristol. 'Future policy approaches for health and sustainability- what next for WHO healthy cities?'</li> <li>• David Ludlow, Associate Professor, Department of Architecture and Built Environment, University of West of England, 'Smart Healthy City Governance'</li> <li>• Paul Wilkinson, Professor of Environmental Epidemiology, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine. 'Low carbon transition for future urban planning'</li> </ul>
15.15 - 15.40	Final panel and participant discussion: Future approaches for planning healthy, sustainable, urban areas. Panel: David Burney, Clive Sabel, Laurence Carmichael, David Ludlow, Paul Wilkinson
15.40 - 15.45	Closing remarks: Karen Lock